

2023 NYN Fall Assembly NYNAC Report

2023 NYNAC will be in person at [REDACTED], NY, in [REDACTED].

At this time, I have no numbers regarding adults and teens attending. I have had some conversations with some sponsors. There seems to be a common denominator – fewer and fewer teens are attending. So far, I can confirm that we have at least four adults (including the required nurse) and seven teens.

I have received, signed and returned the signed contract to the retreat center. They have confirmed in writing that we will be charged a flat rate per person, no minimum required. I am including the same information in this report that was in the spring report.

The reservation requirements have changed this year. There is no “minimum number” for participants. This cost will be $155.00 each for the venue, and $10.00 for the t-shirts each, for a total of $165.00 each. I have not gotten a contract yet, but I have received an email with the breakdown. The following is from the email:

I have already received a for NYNAC. Any donations would be applied toward the tee shirts, thus lowering the final cost for each one attending. If at all possible, if any sponsors and teens plan to attend, it would be helpful to have the payments in advance of the event. Please get me your numbers and any dietary concerns as soon as possible. All checks for registration fees and donations should be made out to NYNAC. I can provide the mailing address upon request.

I only recently sent out an email asking for themes and artwork. (I am way behind this year.) I have asked for ideas by September 9th. There may be an opportunity to have some structured outdoor activities this year. That is a work in progress.

Gratefully submitted,

Leslie Conway, NYNAC Coordinator
